This situation can be:

- Very improbable (1%-5% probability)
- Completely unrealistic (0% probability

EXAMPLE

If I won the lottery, I would travel the world.

FORM

To write a sentence in the second conditional, we use,

If + past simple - would/wouldn't + verb.

Example: If I lived in a big city, I would go out more often.

Would + verb - if + past simple.

Example: I would go out more often if I lived in a big city.

When we use the verb "to be" in the second conditional, the past form is always "were" for the subjects I, he, she and it.
